* This summary of financial result is not subject to audit procedures.

* In domestic sales of the Nihon Kohden group, sales to public medical institutions (which include national hospitals, national universities, public agencies, and municipal hospitals) account for a relatively high percentage of total sales. Therefore, the bulk of orders tend to be concentrated in September and March due to these hospitals' budget executions. In particular, sales and income are highly concentrated in the fourth quarter of the fiscal year.

* Earnings forecasts and other forward-looking statements in this release are based on information currently available and certain assumptions that the Company believes are reasonable. Therefore, they do not constitute a guarantee that they will be realized. Actual results may differ from such estimates due to unforeseen circumstances.

* While it is difficult to foresee when COVID-19 pandemic will end, the earnings forecasts described above are based on the assumption that COVID-19 will end after a certain period. As there are a number of uncertain factors, the Company has suspended the announcement of its forecasts for the first half of FY2020.

4. Review of Operations

During the term under review (April 1, 2020 to June 30, 2020), the COVID-19 pandemic adversely affected national healthcare systems in every country and the global economic outlook remained uncertain. In Japan, the government implemented measures to support the healthcare system in the midst of the COVID-19 crisis by enacting a FY2020 supplementary budget and special measures in relation to medical treatment fees. There were concerns that medical institutions were facing financial challenges because COVID-19 caused people to avoid visiting hospitals and clinics, and forced hospitals to postpone surgical procedures and inpatient admissions. Medical equipment companies were strongly required to provide solutions which contribute to infection control measures as well as improving quality and efficiency of medical care. Internationally, additional medical equipment was installed by facilities in China, Europe, the U.S and emerging countries to treat the growing number of COVID-19 patients in those countries.

Under these circumstances, Nihon Kohden conducted its business activities in accordance with the basic policies of: (1) Ensuring the health and safety of its employees as the top priority. (2) Fulfilling its responsibilities as a medical device maker. The Company addressed challenges such as improving profitability of existing businesses and consolidating corporate fundamentals to grow as a global company. The Company also ramped up production of patient monitors and ventilators to meet increased demand due to the growing number of COVID-19 patients.

Japan: Nihon Kohden concentrated on enhancing sales activities which match each market; the acute care hospital market, the small and mid-sized hospital market, and the clinic market. The Company also strengthened its marketing and service capabilities creating customer value which contributed to improving medical safety, patient outcomes, and operating efficiency. However, domestic sales decreased as the Company's sales and service staff limited visits to medical institutions to a necessary minimum and hospitals postponed testing and surgical procedures. Sales in the university and public hospital markets decreased significantly as there was a reactionary decline compared to the first quarter of FY2019 when sales were strong due to large orders related to construction of new hospitals. Sales in the clinic market also decreased. Sales in the private hospital market remained flat. Sales of AEDs in the PAD market increased favorably thanks to orders received for replacement of existing installations. Sales of Treatment Equipment increased, supported by favorable sales of ventilators and AEDs. Sales of Physiological Measuring Equipment, Patient Monitors and Other Medical Equipment decreased. As a result, domestic sales decreased 12.6% over the first quarter of FY2019 to ¥24,809 million.

International: Sales in all regions achieved double-digit growth because demand for patient monitors and ventilators increased due to the growing number of COVID-19 patients. In the Americas, sales in both the U.S. and Latin America showed double-digit growth. In Latin America, sales in Brazil and Mexico increased favorably. In Europe, sales in Western Europe showed strong growth, primarily in Italy and the U.K. Sales in Asia & Other regions also showed strong growth, thanks to favorable sales in China and large orders in Vietnam and Qatar. Sales of Patient Monitors and Treatment Equipment achieved double-digit growth, while sales of Physiological Measuring Equipment and Other Medical Equipment decreased. As a result, international sales increased 34.4% over the first quarter of FY2019 to ¥13,652 million.

As a result, overall sales during the term under review decreased 0.2% over the first quarter of FY2019 to ¥38,461 million. Operating income increased 237.8% over the first quarter of FY2019 to ¥1,831 million because gross profit margin improved thanks to a favorable product mix and a decrease in SG&A expenses such as traveling expenses. Ordinary income was ¥1,581 million (ordinary loss of ¥26 million in the first quarter of FY2019). Income attributable to owners of parent was ¥1,060 million (loss attributable to owners of parent of ¥499 million in the first quarter of FY2019).

6. Consolidated Forecast for FY2020

The Company reaffirms its forecast for FY2020, previously announced on May 13, 2020. While it is difficult to foresee when the COVID-19 pandemic will end, the earnings forecasts are based on the assumption that COVID-19 will end after a certain period: by the end of the first half of FY2020 in Japan and by the end of the third quarter of FY2020 internationally. There is a possibility that the operating results and financial position of the Nihon Kohden Group could be affected in the following circumstances: if the impacts from COVID-19 last longer than expected, or if unexpected difficulty in the procurement of parts and components causes delays in or suspension of manufacturing, or if the rise in air freight rates exceeds assumptions. The Company will immediately announce revisions to its forecasts if necessary.
